Assassin Kills President Armas In Guatemala

Alleged Communist Takes Own Life; Gonzalez-Lopez Successor

GUATEMALA CITY (UP) — President Carlos Castillo Armas, who brought this Central American country its first really democratic government, was shot and killed Friday night by a palace guard identified as a Communist.

The 43-year-old president was walking to the palace dining room with his wife when he was slain.

Officials said the assassin, Romeo Vasquez Sanchez, shot and killed himself immediately afterward.

Vice President Luis Arturo Gonzalez - Lopez called an emergency cabinet meeting early this morning and assumed the presidency. The cabinet declared a state of seige

Authorities said Castillo Armas was shot twice in the chest and died instantly.

Beat Guards To Draw

Other palace guards rushed to the scene with drawn sidearms but the assassin beat them to it by putting a bullet through his head

Castillo Armas was strongly anti Communist and for the three years he was in power he had waged an intensive war against Communists and leftists.

Officials said they found papers on the assassin's body that showed he was a long - standing member of the Communist Party.

Gonzalez - Lopez was sworn in shortly before 5 a.m. at an emergency cabinet meeting.

Shortly afterward he issued a proclamation urging the Guatemalan people to keep calm "in the face of the national tragedy".

Castillo's assassination came just three years and three weeks after his triumphal entry into Guatemala City at the head of revolutionary forces which overthrew the leftist regime of Col. Jacobo Arbenz Guzman.

Unstable Month

July had been both Castillo's lucky and unlucky month.

It was on July 3, 1952, that he was forced to take refuge in Bogota, Colombia, as a political exile.

He returned to Guatemala on July 3, 1954.

Arbenz took political asylum in the Mexican embassy and later went to Europe.

The revolution whigh put Castillo in power began June 18, 1954, from neighboring Honduras.

Some 10 days later Arbenz resigned and was replaced by a military junta headed by Col. Elfego Monzon, an avowed anti-Communist.

On July 2, Elfego Monzon signed a peace pact at San Salvador, providing for a five-man junta to take over Guatemalan rule. In the swirl of events, it was Guatemala's fourth government within a week.

American Ambassador John E. Peurifoy played a strong hand in bringing the Elfego Monzon-Castillo talks to a successful conclusion after they had threatened to bog down.

Peurifoy, transferred to Thailand as U.S. ambassador, died there as result of an automobile accident.

Castillo took over as president of Guatemala on Sept. 1 after dissolution of the ruling junta. On Dec. 18, 1955, he was confirmed in office in the freest elections Guatemala ever had.

Castillo, a close friend of the United States, had survived other attempts to overthrow his rule,

Ike Says Loss Of Armas Hurts The Free World

WASHINGTON (UP)—President Eisenhower said today the "tragic" death of Guatemalan President Carlos Castillo Armas is a loss to the entire free world.

He said in a statement released by the White House that under Castillo's leadership the threat of a Communist domination of Guatemala was "repulsed" and the country "became a valuable member" of the organization of American states.

Castillo was shot and killed by an assassin Thursday night at the presidential palace.

Eisenhower expressed his "heartfelt sympathies" to the people of Guatemala and to Castillo's family. The White House said the President is sending a personal message to the family.

Castillo was one of the first visitors President Eisenhower saw at Fitzsimmons Army Hospital in Denver, Colo., after his heart attack. The last time they met was at the Panama meeting of presidents of American states in July, last year.

Following is the text of the President's statement:

"The tragic death of President Carlos Castillo Armas of Guatemala is a great loss to his own nation and to the entire free world.

"President Castillo Armas was a personal friend of mine. Under his leadership the threat of Communist domination of his country was repulsed and Guatemala became a valuable member of the organization of American states.

"Mrs. Eisenhower and I extend our heartfelt sympathies to the people of Guatemala and to the family of the president."

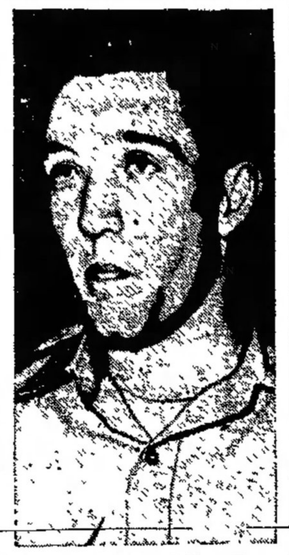
State Pilots Entries in Race Cross-country

FRESNO, Calif (UP) — Two Pennsylvanians were among a dozen Air National Guard jet pilots entered today in the Earl T. Ricks Memorial Trophy race, a timed cross-country flight.

They were Maj. Peter R. Phillipy, McKees Rocks, and Capt. George C. McCrory, Coraopolis.

The F84F and RF84F Thunderstreak jets will take off from the Fresno Air Terminal at five minute intervals beginning at 10 a.m. e.d.t., Sunday, for Washington, D.C., with refueling stops at Tucson, Ariz., Dallas, Tex., and Marietta Ga. The flight is expected to be made in less than four hours.

The purpose of the Air Force Association sponsored event is to emphasize the capabilities of each pilot in flight planning, navigation and high-speed cruise control. The landing in the nation's Capitol will kick off the start of the association's annual convention.



WON ON 'PRINCIPLE' — Donald Wheeler, the airman who didn't want a white sidewall haircut, tells a press conference in Tokyo he "fought for a principle and won." The U. S. Air Force overturned a court martial conviction of Wheeler. He added: "I would refuse to get a white sidewall again."

Eastern Farmers Hoping for Rain To End Drought

By UNITED PRESS

A disappointing dawn broke on the drought-parched East today as farmers from 11 states realized that promises of relief failed to materialize during the night.

Basing their hopes on a warm front that inched its way across the lower Great Lakes region into New York Friday, New England farmers saw themselves one day closer to a multi - million dollar crop disaster. Already estimates of losses on the three-month drought were running up to 30 million dollars.

Nature continued to play its game of cruel irony, concentrating its rain-power through the central plains, most of Utah, and in Kansas and Colorado, the so-called "Dust Bowl" which readily admits it has more than it needs.

Cloudy skies blanketed most of the area eastward from the Mississippi Valley. The southern Atlantic states and the Gulf region continued to be pelted by scattered showers, as were the lower Great Lakes and the upper Ohio Valley.

The outook for today offered little to comfort the stricken East, as shower activity scrupulously avoided the area. A few scattered showers were forecast for the central Appalachians, while southwards from the Great Lakes stronger activity seemed probable.

Three Fayette Judges to Review Pinball Testimony

Fayette County's three common pleas court judges are expected to review arguments and testimony in the recently concluded pinball case within the next few days.

Judge Eustace H. Bane heard testimony while his two fellow jurists recovered from recent surgery.

Judge W. Russell Carr returned home this week from Presbyterian Hospital in Pittsburgh.

Judge S. John Morrow is expected home early next week from a hospital in Milwaukee, Wis.

The three jurists will rule on the case, sitting en banc. They will review a transcript of the testimony prepared by court stenographer Ted Mazmiersky.

Jail in County Is 'Obsolete'

Westmoreland Grand Jury in Report; Courthouse Is 'Overcrowded'

The Westmoreland County July grand jury reported yesterday that the courthouse is "overcrowded" and the county jail is an "obsolete building."

The jury, after touring county-owned property, made the quarterly presentment to Judge Edward G. Bauer.

As for the courthouse, the presentment said that "as soon as possible additional buildings should be added to the courthouse."

The grand jury found that the county jail under Warden William R. Hohn is efficiently staffed in spike of the obsolete building.

'Waste of Money'

"We feel it would be a waste of the taxpayers money to attempt any renovation of this building, inside or outside," the presentment said.

Some other past grand juries, while finding the present jail antiquated, thought the situation might be improved with the addition of an elevator and some other minor alterations.

As for the Juvenile Detention Home on West Otterman St., the grand jury found it clean and well operated. The report urged that a guard or attendant be on duty constantly.

"We do not think the quarters that are used for the detention of Juveniles adequate for protection and proper confinement," said the report.

The grand jury had no fault to find with the operation of the Institution District, the County Home, which it found to be efficiently maintained and the buildings good.

James R. Hoffa

Hoffa Tosses Teamster Cap In the Ring

CHICAGO (UP)—Teamster Vice President James R. Hoffa today began what looked like a bandwagon ride to the union's top post, soon to be vacated by Dave Beck, and announced his willingness to combat any opposition AFL-CIO leaders may throw at him.

Hoffa, 44, fresh from an acquittal by a federal jury on charges he conspired to plant a spy on the Senate Rackets Committee, threw his teamster cap in the ring Friday before more than 800 cheering union officials.

Presenting his platform, Hoffa read a statement of policy which pledged the Teamsters to support the AFL-CIO on such matters as the operation of union health-welfare funds, and the ouster of racketeers, Fascists and Communists from the trade union movement.

"I for one never want to leave voluntarily the AFL-CIO," Hoffa said. "However, I don't want any inference to be left that we are willing to sacrifice the autonomy of our international union. Better we should fight while we are strong than realize while we are weak that we should have fought."

Aid Is Flown To Japan for Flood Victims

ITAZUKE, Japan (UP)—United States air and naval forces joined Japanese relief agencies today in speeding aid to western Kyushu, devastated by floods and landslides that took a heavy toll of life and property.

National Police Headquarters in Tokyo issued a revised list, reporting 432 persons known dead and 294 missing and feared dead. Japanese newspapers estimated the final death toll would range between 1,000 and 3,000.

More than 100,000 persons were reported homeless.

The rainstorm which struck the low-lying areas around Omura Bay Thursday was the heaviest ever recorded in Japan in so short a time, weathermen said. More than 31 inches fell in 24 hours, touching off floods and landslides.

High winds and thunderstorms lashed the stricken area early today but weathermen forecast a break in the weather. They reported the low atmospheric pressure area moving northward and predicted heavy rains for central, eastern and northern Honshu.

The mercy operation was expected to go into high gear when the weather permitted.

West Brownsville Bridge Painted

The bridge spanning the Monongahela River connecting Brownsville with West Brownsville has been given a coat of aluminum paint.

The structural condition of the bridge has caused some concern among Brownsville residents since a piece of concrete dropped from beneath the bridge flooring several months ago.

The falling concrete damaged a towboat, owned by the Zubik Towing Co. of Pittsburgh, which was passing under the bridge at the time.

Upon inspection, some deterioration was found beneath the bridge on the Fayette County side, at the point where it passes above Water St. and near the entrance to the stairway leading to the sidewalk.

Ask New Name

Frank Thomas Zuchelkowski and his wife Bridget Sophia, of Uniontown R. D. 4, have asked Fayette County court for permission to change their name to Holt.

Judge Eustace H. Bane will consider the name change petition on Oct. 4.

GOP Is Confident of Winning Civil Rights Fight Over Jury Trial

Democrats Also Claim Victory; Vote Is Expected to Be Close

WASHINGTON (UP) — President Eisenhower's unyielding opposition to a jury trial amendment to the civil rights bill appeared today to be gaining results.

Informed sources said Republican leaders are confident of swinging enough GOP senators back into the administration camp to defeat the Democratic-sponsored amendment.

Senate GOP Leader William F. Knowland (Calif.) told Republican senators Friday the President stood fast against the jury trial provision.

Senate Democrats supporting such an amendment also appeared equally certain of victory on the issue. But both sides agreed the vote will be a close one.

Southern Democrats issued thinly veiled warnings they would filibuster any rights bill which does not contain a jury trial amendment. They are supporting a compromise under which anyone accused of criminal contempt for denying court-ordered protection of voting rights would be assured a trial by jury.

Eighteen Republicans deserted administration forces Wednesday when the Senate by a 52-38 vote killed a much disputed section of the bill to equip the government with injunction powers to prevent civil rights violations generally. Twenty-five GOP senators sided with the administration.

GOP sources said party leaders believe 35 to 37 Republican senators will line up with the administration on the jury trial issue. This would be a gain of 10 to 12 votes.

Other congressional news:

Narcotics: The House Ways & Means Committee has approved a bill imposing government controls on the manufacture of synthetic drugs to curb illegal traffic in narcotics. The measure would require manufacturers of narcotic drugs to secure a government license and be subject to federal production laws.

Scribiner: The Senate Finance Committee has approved President Eisenhower's nomination of Fred C. Scribner Jr., to be undersecretary of Treasury. Scribner, now an assistant secretary, will replace Chapman Rose, who resigned.

Pay Raise: Rep. Joel T. Broyhill has begun a drive to secure prompt hearings by the House Rules Committee on a bill giving 950,000 white collar and administrative government employes an 11 per cent pay boost. The Virginian Republican said House Civil Service Committee members are being asked to approve the hearings over the objections of Chairman Tom Murray. Murray said he opposed the bill, approved by his committee, "until we see what happens on the postal pay bill" granting a pay raise of 518,000 postal workers of up to $546 yearly.

British Planes Switch Strategy In Oman Rebellion

SHARJA, Trucial Oman (UP)—British RAF jets switched from rockets to leaflets today in their attempt to end the rebellion against the Sultan of Muscat and Oman.

Two Pembrokes and two Valettas took off from here at dawn to scatter the leaflets over the 5 000-square miles of territory held by the rebels.

The leaflets did not specifically call for the delivery to the Sultan's forces of rebel leader Imam of Oman or his gun-carrying brother Talib. However, they called for an end to the rebellion and promised a pardon for any of the Imam's troops who gave up immediately.

Informed sources said here that the rocket attacks on the rebel strongholds probably will be resumed within several days unless there is a radical change in the rebel attitude.

The British planes changed their cargoes to leaflets when a red flag —the emblem of the Sultan—replaced the white rebel flag over Iski Fort, a rebel stronghold in the interior.

It was not clear whether the flag marked a general surrender or just the defection of a few of the Imam's forces, but the British hoped the fighting could be stopped soon.

Uniontown Fire Carnival Gambling Games Are Closed

Uniontown firemen promised today to operate their annual carnival "within the law to the best of their knowledge."

Fire Chief J. Albert Matheny assured police of that position after reports of a threatened raid.

The carnival is now in progress at Baily Park, off of Dunbar St., in Uniontown.

According to the fire chief, games of chance were operated when the carnival first opened "in the belief that they were not gambling."

"When we were notified that in the opinion of the police department they were gambling devices, the firemen were as anxious to close them as the officers were," Chief Matheny said.

Police agreed that the firemen cooperated by closing all gambling stands with the exception of bingo. Chief of Police A. W. Davis explained that "bingo will be permitted as it is in parties of local church and fraternal groups.

The weeklong carnival is being operated by the Booster Club of the Union, Keystone and Chief Williams' hook and ladder fire companies.

Defense Series Starts Monday

If current disarmament talks in London fail and war should come, could Europe be defended? How long would such a war last? Would it be an atomic war? Who would win?

These questions will be discussed by United Press military writer Charles Corddry in a series of six articles which will appear in The Daily Independent beginning Monday.

Corddry, who has just returned from a month-long tour of the Western frontiers of the free world, has gathered many hitherto unrevealed facts for this informative and provocative series.

Plan Autopsy On Man Who Falls from Plane

GEORGE AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (UP)—An autopsy was performed today on the body of a heavily - insured passenger who was blown out the side of an airliner 10,000 feet over the California desert.

The body of jeweler Saul F. Binstock, 62, was found late Friday by an Air Force helicopter. The San Bernardino Sheriff's office said the body lay face down on a small ridge in the desert.

Binstock was found more than 24 hours after an explosion that rocked a Western airliner. The two-engine Convair plane carrying 12 other passengers and three crew members managed to make an emergency landing here after the blast tore a gaping hole in the fuselage of the plane.

The body was removed to O'Donnell's Mortuary in Barstow, Calif., where the San Bernardino County coroner and county pathologist planned to determine the exact cause of death.

Search parties earlier in the day recovered fragments of twisted metal and hardware blown out of the side of the plane early Wednesday. The blast occurred in the lavatory and searchers found the battered washbasin on the desert.

Civil Aeronautics Board investigators continued to search the plane for any trace of explosive marks.

Safety Council Proposes Changes In State Laws

HARRISBURG (UP)—A National Safety Council official has outlined three legislative proposals which he said were needed to bring Pennsylvania's traffic laws up to uniform vehicle code standards.

Edward S. Smith, the council's district director, based his recommendations on a report of the state's traffic safety activities last year. The proposals called for laws which would:

—Make legal acceptance by the courts of evidence secured against a driver through use of chemical tests for intoxication.

—Adopt model traffic laws which could be recommended by the state to each city to make the regulations uniform on a statewide basis.

—Authorize operators licenses to be revoked for six separate violations of vehicle laws, instead of four carried under existing legislation.

Not in the Script

HOLLYWOOD (UP) — Accident investigation officers Robert Pardini and Robert Spottswood believe that a policeman's work is never done. They were returning to police headquarters after acting as technical advisors for location shots in San Francisco for CBS - TV's "Lineup" when they saw a man trying to climb over a fence. They stopped him, and he admitted he had just committed a grocery store holdup.

Kindergarten Is no 'Baby-sitting Service,' Pallone Tells Mothers

Monessen's kindergarten program is no "baby-sitting service."

That point will be made clear to the parents of about 250 youngsters who will attend the city's three kindergartens during the 1957-58 term.

"There has been a tendency in the past to consider kindergarten as a baby-sitting service," observed Dr. Joseph Pallone, superintendent of schools. "That very definitely isn't the case and we intend to see that it isn't."

Dr. Pallone said he was disturbed by attendance records in the past. He pointed out that "some mothers sent their youngsters whenever they felt like it."

This, said Dr. Pallone, was teaching the child a "bad habit" at the very beginning of his school life.

"If a youngster misses more than ten days this term, except for illness, he will be dropped from the class."

To acquaint parent with the purpose and operation of the prodram, Dr. Pallone and his kindergarten staff are now preparing a booklet which will be distributed when school begins.

In the booklet, parents are advised how to make their youngster's kindergarten days more enjoyable and useful.

Dr. Pallone said the pre-school classes are most helpful since they give the child an opportunity to live with a large group. Kindergarten thus enriches the youngster's background and provides him with a basic readiness in reading, writing and spelling.

The classes also permit the children to express and think for themselves.

Parents may prepare their children for kindergarten by teaching them to share and cooperate with others. They should enforce an "early-to-bed" routine.

"The boys and girls should also know how to put on and take off their coats and hats" said Dr. Pallone. "Parents would be wise, too, to make several trips to the school in the next few weeks with their children to acquaint them with the route."

Dr. Pallone added that kindergarten teachers expect parents to leave as soon as they have transported their children. They should also be prompt in picking them up after classes are over.

Kindergarten classes will be conducted this coming term at Washington, Ben Franklin and Linden. Half of the 250 youngsters registered will attend classes in the morning, and the other half in the afternoon.

To be eligible, the child must be vaccinated against small pox and must be five years of age by Feb. 1, 1958.

'Brothers' Settled in Fayette County Area

A religious group known as the Society of Brothers has now settled quietly in its new location at the former Gorley's Lake Hotel in Uniontown.

More than 100 members of the Society, which resembles somewhat the Mennonites and Quakers, have moved into the hotel, once a gay and noisy night spot.

Eberhard C. H. Arnold, son of the Society's founder, said that an open house program is planned for early next month.

"We want to meet people who are seeking contentment, freedom from the cares of the world and their own restlessness," Arnold explained.

Presently there are 18 families and several single persons in the community.

This group of the Society moved from a farm in South Dakota.

Like the Mennonites and Quakers, the Society believes in pacifism and simple living. There are some sharp differences, too. Their creed states that "members hold all goods in common and work is done for the benefit of the whole group."

The Brothers wear modern dress. They smoke cigarettes and keep abreast of the modern world.

The Society was organized in 1919. The rise of Hitler forced the group to move to England. From there, the Brothers branched to South America and then to the United States.

There are now 1200 members throughout the world.

The members of the Uniontown group represent American, English, South American, German, Swiss and Canadian.

The Society welcomes guests to come and live with them as prospective members. The decision to

Masontown Cop To Leave Post

At a meeting last night, the Masontown Borough Council voted 3 to 2 to accept the resignation of Patrolman Thomas McWilliams, who resigned on the advice of his physician due to ill health.

McWilliams, now a patient in Uniontown Hospital was suspended earlier this month with Chief of Police Pete Smargie.

The council members decided to contact Harrisburg to determine if the suspension will affect McWilliams' retirement pay.

A hearing has been scheduled for tonight to act on the suspension of Smargie.

Mrs. Thomas Liptrot, of Fairhope, is vacationing with her daughter, Peggy, and her family at Portsmouth, Va.

No Drugs Are Effective for Oriental Flu

WASHINGTON (UP)—A public health spokesman said today no known drugs are effective in curing the generally mild Oriental flu spreading in the United States.

He said the recommended treatment is the same as the treatment for other types of flu and the common cold — "Go to bed, drink a lot of liquids, take aspirin."

"Of course, a doctor should be called if necessary," he said.

The Public Health Service said fresh reports of outbreaks of Oriental flu are continuing to come in. However, the service said most reports refer to only an "influenza-like" illness.

Health officials pointed out that a laboratory test of a throat washing is necessary to determine whether flu virus involved in each case is actually of the Oriental strain now sweeping Asia in epidemic proportions.

The symptoms of Oriental flu are typical of most varieties of influenza. It is marked by high fever ranging from 101 degrees to 105 degrees, chills, weakness, sore throat, headache, muscle aches and pains, nausea and vomiting. A dry cough usually develops in two or three days after the onset of the illness.

Street Fair to Open Monday; Parade Thursday

The annual street fair of the Fayette City Fire Department will get underway Monday evening.

Booths for games and refreshments are being set up on Market St. between Fourth and Second. They will be operated by members of the department and their wives.

On Thursday evening, the feature attraction of the week will be a parade of fire companies and musical groups. The parade will begin at 7:30. The line of march will be along Second, Cook, Main and Fording streets.

Committee chairmen include Bevan Freshwater, Charles Milson and Marion DeReinzio.

Graham Blames Troubles on Rebellion to God

NEW YORK (UP) — Billy Graham said Friday night that all the adversities which beset the human race are caused by man's "rebellion against God."

"Man judges only partial facts," the evangelist said. "God bases his judgment on all the eternal facts. We have brought all the troubles, sicknesses and woes which beset the human race with our rebellion against God."

About 14,000 persons in Madison Square Garden heard Graham say that instead of questioning God's decisions man should try to "understand the perfect justice of Almighty God."

Friday night's audience brought to 1,262,900 the total number of persons who have heard Graham speak during his New York Crusade. Another 332 listeners came forward to make "decisions for Christ" increasing to 38,585 the number of those who have done so since the crusade began.

The Missing Link

PATERSON, N.J. (UP) — William Heathcote explained to Rosalie Rejamla today that the car he borrowed from her wasn't running anymore. He told her that when he returned to the car where he had parked it, and got in to start it, nothing happened. Someone had jacked up the car and stolen the drive shaft.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Yusko and sons, Jimmy and Bobby Batwinis, with Mrs. Yusko's sister Mrs. William Opfar, are vacationing in Florida. The party expects to be gone for two weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Wingert and two children, of Tarrytown, New York, are visiting with Mrs. Wingert's mother, Mrs. John Cameron at her home on Locust St.

Mrs. John Tola and two children are spending 10 days visiting with Mrs. Tola's patents Mr. and Mrs. Lami, of New Kensington.

Jilted Youth Teeters Over Manhattan River

NEW YORK (UP) — A jilted youth teetered for 40 minutes on the Manhattan Bridge 140 feet above the Brooklyn waterfront Friday before an iron-worker yanked him to safety.

Julie Ramos, 20, of Camden, N.J., had climbed over a guard railing on the bridge linking Manhattan and Brooklyn and was clinging to a cable when he was seen by two city employes passing by in a truck.

Edward Elezat, 34, got out and talked to Ramos while his partner, Dominick Patella, 39, called police.

Spectators and police stood by as a priest tried to coax Ramos from his precarious position. He failed.

Then Elezat approached Ramos and momentarily distracted his attention. In that instant, Elezat grabbed the youth's wrists and hauled him to safety.

"My girl friend is angry with me," Ramos said. "I have nobody who cares anymore. I do not want to live."

He was taken to a hospital for observation.

High 'Kill Rate' For Jet Interceptors

WASHINGTON (UP)—The Air Force says its jet interceptors are carrying new guided missiles designed to destroy up to 90 per cent of enemy bombers that come within their lethal range.

The high "kill rate" was claimed for a new model of the Falcon missile which is equipped with a heat-seeking device that leads it to attacking aircraft.

Beck in Innocent Plea to Charges

SEATTLE (UP)—Dave Beck's attorney said today he will demand a transcript of secret grand jury proceedings charging the Teamster Union president illegally pocketed union funds.

Beck pleaded innocent in King County Superior Court here Friday to a charge that he took for his own use $1,900 from sale of a 1952 union Cadillac.

His son, Dave Beck Jr., faces arraignment Tuesday on two counts of a King County grand jury charge that he sold two Teamster cars and pocketed the money.

Air Force in Slowdown On Fighter Production

Move Apparently Money-saving, Spokesman Says

WASHINGTON (UP)—The Air Force has ordered a slowdown in production of four of its most important types of supersonic fighter planes.

The move apparently was a money-saving one.

Aircraft involved are the F101 day and all-weather fighters produced by McDonnell Aircraft Co., St. Louis, Mo.; the F104 jet fighter produced by Lockheed, Burbank, Calif., and the F106 all-weather interceptor produced by Convair, San Diego, Calif.

The Air Force said Friday night it had notified the companies of "certain changes in future production rates" and that it believed the slowdown would not cause reduced employment.

A spokesman added that the stretch-out will mean an additional year will be needed to complete present contracts for the aircraft. The biggest effect will be felt in fiscal 1959 which starts July 1, 1958.

In no case, the spokesman said, will production rates be cut lower than they now are and total number of planes planned is not expected to be reduced.

In the past, however, stretch-outs frequently have resulted in cuts in total production. That is because new developments overtake planes in production and make them obsolete.

The new defense appropriation bill passed this week gave the Air Force $5,886,000 000 for aircraft procurement, which was 314 million dollars under its original request.

The stretch-out coincided with wide-spread belief the aircraft industry faced "serious adjustments." The industry's association said a week ago that a hold-down on Pentagon spending would cause "further program stretch - outs, cutbacks and cancellations."

Sheppard Attorney On Way to Florida

DE LAND, Fla. (UP)—The attorney who defended Dr. Samuel Sheppard at his 1954 murder trial was motoring here today to determine whether a young Florida convict could be the key to new action toward freeing the Cleveland osteopath.

Attorney William Corrigan is expected to arrive here Monday to make a thorough check of the story of Donald H. Wedler, 23, who has told the local sheriff, private investigators and Cleveland authorities that he thinks he killed Marilyn Sheppard.

Commissioner Dies

FRANKLIN, Pa. (UP) — John C. Brecht, 64, Venango County commissioner for more than 20 years, died Friday of a heart attack in the county courthouse.

State Communities Get Federal Money

HARRISBURG (UP)—The state Health Department announced today that the federal government has conditionally granted $1,994,784 to 11 Pennsylvania communities and municipal authorities to help defray the cost of building sewage treatment plants.

The payments are to be made if the municipality or agency agrees to begin construction of the plant within 100 days. The communities and the amounts of each offer include:

Oil City General Authority; Municipal Authority of the Borough of Berwick; Penn Twp., Allegheny County; Warren Borough Sanitary Authority; Philadelphia and Harrisburg, each $250,000; Allegheny County Sanitary Authority, $111,600; Galeton Borough Authority, $63,149; Elizabeth Borough Municipal Authority, Allegheny County, $184,800; White Haven, Luzerne County, $59,175, and North East Borough Sewer Authority, Erie County, $76,060.

All of the municipalities except Philadelphia, Harrisburg, North East and Allegheny County have agreed to meet the construction condition. Philadelphia has requested an extension of the deadline to meet administrative procedure. Harrisburg has indicated it wants the grant in the name of the recently-organized Harrisburg Municipal Authority. Allegheny County has changed the amount of money it originally requested and North East has indicated it will submit its acceptance July 28.

The payments are Pennsylvania's share of a 50 million dollar appropriation made by Congress for distribution in the 1957 fiscal year.

Cecil Twp. Water Rates Increased

HARRISBURG (UP) — Water rates for 226 Cecil Twp. Washington County, customers of the Hill Station Water Co., Fredericktown, were increased Friday under authorization from the Public Utility Commission.

The commission said public hearings will be held "as soon as possible" on the flat 20 per cent rate hike. A group of consumers, headed by Harold S. Cass Lawrence, filed protests against the increase which the firm said is needed to meet higher operating costs.

Trip Rescheduled

WASHINGTON (UP)—Dr. Milton S. Eisenhower's goodwill trip to Mexico has been rescheduled for Aug. 4-10.

Scottish Clans To Hold Picnic Next Saturday

Scottish Clans will gather next Saturday at Kennywood Park for their 59th annual picnic and games.

The affair, probably the largest nationality event in the country, is sponsored by the ten Scottish Clans of Western Pennsylvania. However Scotsmen from throughout eastern United States and Canada attend the day-long event.

Two bagpipe bands, hundreds of kilts-clad dancers and musicians and many athletes will provide the big interest at the colorful get-together of the proud Scots.

The Westinghouse Kiltie Band from East Pittsburgh and the Clan Douglas Pipe Band from Wilkinsburg will be on hand to parade through the park and also play at various activities during the games, dancing and musical competition. This includes a track meet sanctioned by the Amateur Athletic Union.

Possibly the most colorful of all events are the Highland dances, wherein the lassies and lads skip through their specialties to the accompaniment of bagpiping.

There will be the sword dance, highland fling, shean trubha, sailors hornpipe and even the Irish jig.

It all adds up to one of the most colorful outings anywhere, what with the all-day swirling of the kilts and skirling of the pipes.

Child's Talk Is Welcomed

CONCORD, N.C. (UP)—Kitty Butler almost found herself tongue tied Friday night even after she emerged a clear-cut winner in her 30-day silent battle for a horse.

Ten-year-old Kitty won her horse after keeping the bargain with her dad that she wouldn't talk for 30 days if he would buy it for her.

The bargain was struck 30 days at 10 o'clock Friday night. At that precise time, reporters, photographers and her parents and brothers gathered in undisguised curiousity to see what a chattering little girl would say after a month's silence.

Her daddy, John Butler, promised she could take her dog Beauty with her to the beach next week if she would tell where they were going.

Beauty had been ruled out of the trip, because well . . . fleas.

Before she knew it almost, Kitty shattered the silence with "Windy Hill." That's the beach.

After that it was a little easier.

Kitty said her horse, which is being kept by the present owner until after the beach vacation, is a red and white Tennessee walking horse with a white spot on its nose.

His name is Prince and she's going to keep him in the old cow barn where she's going to put some hay.

She's going to get the horse next Friday or Saturday when they come back from the beach and she won't have to take riding lessons because she knows how to ride and she wants a big saddle so her brothers can ride too and . . .

Silence is over in the Butler household.

Sr. Capt. Smith — Mrs. Capt. Connors

CHECK FOR MONESSEN GIRL GUARDS — The Monessen Girl Guard Troop, sponsored by the Monessen citadel of the Salvation Army, was honored at Camp Allegheny recently when Sr. Captain Olive Smith, division guard and Sunbeam director for Western Pennsylvania, presented a check to Mrs. Captain John Connors of Monessen. The Monessen girls earned the award by selling the most chocolate in competition with Girl Guard troops throughout the tri-state area.

Labor Leaders Face Tax Bureau Inquiries

WASHINGTON (UP)—Senate investigators today asked the Justice Department and Internal Revenue Service to look into the affairs of a theater - loving labor leader charged with spending $11,411 of his union's money for tickets to hit Broadway shows.

Chairman John L. McClellan (D-Ark.) of the Senate Rackets Committee sent the two departments copies of the testimony of Lloyd Klenert, secretary-treasurer of the United Textile Workers Union, after the committee accused Klenert of misusing $101,963 of union funds for his personal benefit.

He also dispatched as the basis for possible prosecution the testimony of union President Anthony Valente, who was accused by investigators of misusing $26,442.

Investigator Alphonse F. Calabrese testified Friday that Klenert spent $2,564 for tickets to the hit musical "My Fair Lady." He said this was spread over 24 visits to the show.

Calabrese said Klenert charged $14,107 worth of c.o.d. packages to his union-paid hotel bills, including such items as a $25 corkscrew, a $566 color TV set, expensive clothing for himself and his wife, and $40 worth of trampoline lessons for Mrs. Klenert.

He said Klenert socked the union for $18,391 worth of rooms at some of America's swankiest resort hotels for himself and family and more than $3,600 worth of airline fare to and from the resorts.

Klenert contended the personal items were bought with a special $6,500 a year expense fund which the union gave him from 1948 until last November.

Committee Counsel Robert F. Kennedy argued that the union's executive board voted Klenert and Valente this fund in 1948 only in lieu of raising their salaries and per diem expenses to $15,000 a year — a wage bracket they reached soon thereafter.

Actress' Sister Held as Suspect

CLEARWATER, Fla. (UP) — The beautiful younger sister of movie actress Carroll (Baby Doll) Baker was free under $1,000 bond today, charged with possessing narcotics.

Twenty-year-old Virginia Baker, a St. Petersburg beauty contest winner and former model, was arrested early Friday along with Jerry Baehr, a 30-year-old drummer in a night club band. They were picked up by sheriff's deputies as they left a St. Petersburg Beach bar where Baehr works.

Coal Production Up, Report Shows

WASHINGTON (UP) — Nationwide soft coal production in the week ended July 20, totaled 10,075,000 tons against 7,550,000 tons in the previous week and 9,07,0 tons in the corresponding period a year ago, the National Coal Association reported today.

Production for the year-to-date is now estimated at 270,134,000 in the comparable span of 1956.

Newly-formed Dairyman's Local Has Different Slant on Problem

(This is the final in a series of three articles, reviewing the current plight of the dairy farmer. Today's story presents a union solution to the farmers' problem.)

By ALLEN KLINE

No one disputes that the state's dairy farmers are headed for bankruptcy unless they either receive a better price for their milk or somehow lower production costs.

But two organizations, now locked in a life-or-death struggle for the right to represent the farmer, have different approaches to his problem.

The long-established Dairymen's Co-Operative Sales Association (DCSA) contends that there is no "easy answer" but points to education as the possible solution.

DSCA wants farmers to improve their breeding methods to provide an even flow of milk throughout the year and thus stabilize the market.

The newly-formed Local 733, an AFL-CIO affiliate, has a different slant on the problem. While the union is careful to avoid public conflict with DCSA, it's obvious Local 733 regards the cooperative as a "timid" spokesman.

Union Approach

Just what is the union approach to the problem?

According to Business Agent Sam Glassburn, the purpose of the union is to give the dairy farmer a bargaining position which will permit him to defend his own interests.

Glassburn, a young dairyman himself, said that 3,000 — or about 30 per cent — of western Pennsylvanian's dairy farmers joined the union during the recent membership campaign. The percentage is much higher in Rostraver Twp., which the more conservative DCSA regards as a "union area."

Glassburn said union dues are $4 per month. There is a $2 initiation fee and members may withdraw any time they want, merely by sending in a written form to that effect.

A fiery spokesman, Glassburn feels the farmers are being shortchanged in more respects than one.

To begin with, he pointed out that the dairyman never knows what he's going to be paid for his milk.

There are four different prices paid by the dairies for the same milk. The price depends on what the milk is used for.

"Since there are only a handful of Milk Commission inspectors to police the entire area, the farmers are at the mercy of the dairy as far as computing the price is concerned," argued Glassburn.

Nine Cents Quart

At present, the farmer is getting only about nine cents for every quart of milk he delivers to the dairy, contended Glassport. He gets about four cents for the milk which goes into a pound of cottage cheese.

"These dairies will testify that they make only a half cent on a quart of milk, yet their profits are amazing," said the union organizer.

Glassburn refused to comment on DCSA "for the record" but he made it clear the union felt the organization was not speaking out loud enough for the farmers rights.

"Right now we're trying to complete the organization of our union," said Glassburn. "But we intend to be at the next hearing of the Milk Commission and we intend to speak out for the farmer."

Glassburn denied reports that farmers are being forced into the union through illegal pressures.

"We farmers ourselves asked for this union," he said.

"By organizing, the farmers will be better able to protect their rights. If the dairies can make big profits, certainly the farmer should be able to at least meet production costs."

DCSA has contended that the union is illegal since it seeks to represent producers rather than employees. But Glassburn counters with this observation:

"It's time someone looks after the farmer's interest."

In the months ahead, it will be up to the dairymen, themselves, to decide which organization — if either — will be able to keep them from apparent bankruptcy.

WAF Officer In Valley Area For Recruiting

A WAF officer will be in Charleroi Tuesday morning from 9 to 9:30 a. m. to discuss opportunities for direct appointments as commissioned officers in the Air Force.

Lt. Mary Delsman, of the 3502nd Air Force Recruiting Group, said that a limited number of direct appointments are available for single women college graduates between 21 and 34 years of age, and up to 40 years in exceptional cases.

Women appointed under this program would be commissioned as second or first lieutenants and would attend a three-months officer basic training course at Lackland Air Force Base, San Antonio, Tex.

Sgt. Arthur Dubinsky, district Air Force recruiter, may be contacted at the recruiting office in the First National Bank Building, Fifth St., Charleroi, for appointments.

Says Filters Are Useless

WASHINGTON (UP)—The chairman of the House subcommittee which has just completed an investigation of cigarette filters said today smokers "have been wasting their money" buying filter-type varieties.

Rep. John A. Blatnik (D-Minn.) said smokers "might just as well be smoking the old unfiltered cigarettes."

Blatnik said his House subcommittee's inquiry showed smokers are getting just as much tar and nicotine from the new filter - tip cigarettes as from the regular-size plain-tip variety. But he said smokers are paying close to 200 million dollars a year extra for filter tips.

Moreover, he told the United Press, advertisers have spent hundreds of millions of dollars during the last four years to promote filter-tip cigarettes, but smokers got a better tobacco for less money with the old unfiltered variety.

Blatnik's government operations subcommittee Friday concluded six days of hearings on filter tips and the cigarette smoking - lung cancer controversy.

Blatnik said he believes "people will go on smoking" despite reports that cigarette consumption is a cause of lung cancer.

But he expressed confidence a "way out" can be found to give them better health protection. One way, he said, would be to find some agent that would "neutralize" substances in tobacco tars believed responsible for causing lung cancer.

Another way, he added, would be through use of tobacco producing less tars and development of better filtering processes.

Local Effort First

PRESIDENT EISENHOWER belongs to that fast-growing group of authorities who believe that one way to bring about tax reduction is for the states to assume responsibility for some of the costly activities that are now carried on by the federal government.

The President proposes a "task force for action" which would have a three-pronged job: to designate functions which the states are ready and willing to assume and finance, that are now performed or financed wholly or in part by the federal government; to recommend the federal and state revenue adjustments required to enable the states to assume such functions; and to identify functions and responsibilities likely to require state or federal effort, or both, that will be needed to assure effective action. As specific examples of programs in which there should be greater state participation, the President cited slum clearance and disaster relief.

It is an obvious fact that the federal government can only spend money which it has first taken from the people and the enterprises of the states. It is also a fact that a substantial proportion of that money is absorbed by federal administrative overhead.

Moreover, the money saving, important as it is, would be only a part of the benefits that would result. If the states knew they had to do their own financing, they'd examine spending proposals with much more critical eyes — instead of seeking government aid for all manner of unnecessary projects. Then, best of all, there would be reaffirmation of the largely forgotten principle that local needs should be met so far as possible by local action — a principle which lies at the heart of free government.

Attend the Picnic

PLANS are apparently well laid for a successful 1957 edition of the annual Monessen community picnic, to take place at Kennywood Park this coming Tuesday. We urge as many as can among the town's residents, and among our neighbors as well, to close shop for the day and join in the festivities.

We are often told that Monessen's day at Kennywood is one of the best the park experiences during the year, not only with respect to the numbers who attend but also because it is a more genuine community affair than is the case with many others who try to capture the spirit.

Undoubtedly the well developed and well maintained facilities at Kennywood have something to do with the appeal of community picnic day for Monessen.

The usual success which the day has, however, is due also to the hard work of those who make the plans. This year the chore has rested lightly on the shoulders of General Chairman Fred Stockus. He and his troop of coworkers are to be thanked for their good services.

See you at the picnic!

Timely Reminder

THE CHAMBER OF COMMERCE is performing a good civic service in maintaining merchant participation in the "Park 'n' Shop" program. A strongly-worded bulletin this week called attention to the fact that some members are dragging their feet in the matter of distributing parking tokens.

The off-street public plazas provided downtown to help ease the shortage of parking spaces can well be considered a part of every merchant's equipment for doing business in Monessen. Their agreed plan to distribute tokens to customers in support of the plazas ought not to falter.

The city administration has already indicated no more public facilities will be built until the present ones are shown to be in sound shape financially. While that probably makes fiscal sense, it would be too bad for the business community.

The merchants are well advised to blow the whistle on themselves and keep to the rules of the game.

It is more blessed to give than to lend, and the cost is about the same.

It is said man knows virtually nothing about the earth's interior. Why bother about it when he can't even manage affairs on the surface?

Hollywood experts have announced a discovery: there is no direct relationship between the cost and the success of a picture. The customers could have told them this some time ago.

The U. S. wants to put outer space off limits for all war missles. That's right, any killing to be done let's stay down here where the people are.

Merry-Go-Round—

Former Ike Aide Dickers With Trujillo

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — It isn't supposed to be announced, but dictator Trujillo of the Dominican Republic is negotiating to retain President Eisenhower's former appointments secretary, Tom Stephens.

Mr. Pearson

In the same deal, the Caribbean Caesar will get the services of the outgoing American ambassador to his country, William Pheiffer, who has joined Stephens' law firm. Pheiffer left Trujillo's capital last month, but is still drawing his ambassador's pay.

Trujillo has already thrown some lucrative sugar and shipping business to the President's brother-in-law, Gordon Moore. He also sent his personal plane to fly Secretary of State Dulles' son-in-law, Robert Hinshaw, to the Caribbean.

Hinshaw was willing to use his influence to boost the Dominican Republic's sugar quota, which is set by Congress on the advice of the State Department. But Hinshaw stayed with his family for three months, ran up a large hotel bill at Trujillo's expense, wore out his welcome and finally went home without a deal.

The Dominican Dictator is eager to curry favor in Washington not only for the sake of his sugar trade but to avert any diplomatic retaliation over the alleged murders of his political enemies on American soil.

At least nine murders have been charged to Trujillo's goons. Most celebrated was the disappearance of Columbia professor Jesus Galindez and the later killing of American aviator Gerry Murphy.

President Eisenhower finally ordered the FBI to investigate these cases, but so far nothing has come of the FBI investigation.

How Stephens will help the embattled dictator remains to be seen. The ex-White House aide personally flew to the Dominican Republic to talk terms with Trujillo. He also toured the Caribbean with an eye to business with other Latin American Republics.

Zhukov Snafu

The snafu over the proposed invitation too Marshal Zhukov to come to Washington is as mysterious as it is important.

President Eisenhower has long wanted to confer with his old wartime buddy. Three days after he indicated this at a news conference, however, the White House issued an official statement — while Ike was at Gettysburg — stating that there was no plan to invite Zhukov.

Here are the inside reasons for the snafu:

No. 1 — John Foster Dulles has long been suspicious of any talks between his chief in the White House and Marshal Zhukov. He's afraid Ike would be too gullible, would give more than he received.

On the other hand Allen Dulles, younger, smarter brother of the Secretary of State, who runs the Central Intelligence Agency, feels that a visit would be important. Dulles and his CIA men have long kept an eye on Zhukov, consider him one of the most important powers in the Soviet Union. They think a meeting between the President and Zhukov could do no harm, might do a lot of good.

The Defense Department is also strong for such a military meeting. Gen. Nate Twining, new chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, went to Moscow a little over a year ago, would like to see the head of the Russian Air Force invited to the USA. But John Foster Dulles has blocked it.

No. 2. — is opposition from France, England, and West Germany. Our western allies have been suspicious for some time that the United States might arrange a separate deal with Russia. This is one reason they have given Harold Stassen such a bad time in his disarmament talks.

For years the thing the British feared most in regard to the United States was a separate agreement between the USA and the USSR.

President Eisenhower has a lot of confidence in his own ability to work out relations with Russia through Marshal Zhukov on a personal basis. But John Foster Dulles does not. Dulles, in the end, over-ruled the President.

Correction: In reporting Superior Oil's sudden increase in stock value following the House Interstate Commerce Committee's approval of the natural gas bill, the comma was misplaced in recording the number of shares traded, so that the figure of 21,000 shares traded on the day the Committee OK'd the bill should have been 2,100. Other days' sales should be scaled down proportionately. However, the increased value of the stock remains as reported — $30 per share that day, $40 on July 11, $90 on July 12, etc. The fact that Superior Oil increased so much despite the relatively small number of shares traded emphasizes all the more the value which the gas bill will be to the company which attempted to bribe Senator Case of South Dakota. It remains one of the highest priced stocks on the market.

Today and Tomorrow—

Some Doubts on Disarmament

By WALTER LIPPMANN

Talking about "disarmament" on Monday, Mr. Dulles showed how very difficult it will be to reach a significant agreement. To be sure, he said at the end of his speech that we must assume that since an agreement is necessary, it is possible, and that we must make it possible. But one who reads the complicated arguments of the speech itself must, it seems to me, ask himself whether the problem may not be insoluble on the lines where the London Conference is now working.

Mr. Lippmann

For, reduced to its elements, are we not saying that since we cannot trust the Russians, we must have an agreement with them which gives us and them not only the right but the facilities to know all about our two military establishments. Distrusting each other, we are to disclose to one another what weapons and what soldiers each has, where they are at every moment, what is going on in the military arsenals, particularly in those doing the top secret work.

Since we distrust each other we are to make a treaty which would abolish military secrecy more completely than it is abolished in our dealings with our closest allies. All that the intelligence services have been trying to do against the most formidable counter-espionage services, inspectors are to be authorized to do under an international treaty. From profound distrust we are to jump to full disclosure.

It will be extraordinary if it happens, that we shall sign and ratify a treaty to solve the problem of mutual distrust by arranging for the complete disclosure to those whom we distrust the whole military situation.

Inspection Plan

Is it conceivable that the great military powers of the world will allow themselves to be photographed continually from the sky, and will allow their airfields, their ports, their arsenals, their factories to be inspected continually on the ground, — unless by some miracle they have already come to trust one another? Thorough inspection requires a high degree of confidence, good faith, and good will. Although it is being put forward as the remedy for distrust it in fact assumes that distrust has evaporated.

Does this mean that any agreement to regulate armaments is unlikely? I would say that not much is to be expected of any agreement that is complicated, of any agreement requiring elaborate understanding on details, and a highly trained and diversified personnel to administer it. There is logic in our policy, as Secretary Dulles described it on Monday. But it is the logic of technical specialists in a closed room, and not the logic of statesmen in the real world. It is all too finespun, too technical, too subtle, too intricate for the working relationships of the Soviet Union and ourselves.

Our agreements will have, I should think, to be simple and obvious. If they are not, they will be enormously difficult to translate into a treaty, and still more difficult to carry out in practice.

Austria Example

A simple and obvious agreement in the field of armaments would not be addressed to the quality and the quantity of weapons. It would be addressed to the geographical deployment of military forces. The best example we have of such an agreement is the treaty to evacuate Austria. This treaty did not require inspectors. Nor did it pose the question of how to detect bad faith. Once the occupying powers agreed to withdraw from Austria, it was known to all whether the agreement was being carried out. The Austrian people were all the inspectors that were needed.

In my view, this is the type of agreement which holds the greatest promise — first, that it will be carried out, and second, that it will promote peace.

Since it deals with the deployment of forces outside the national territory of the great powers, it deals with something that is visible and obvious. Disarmanent, on the other hand requires agreements which reach into the heart of the national territory of the great powers, indeed into the inner citadels of their national defense.

It is fair to ask ourselves whether in seeking this type of agreement, we are taking the right line.

National Affairs—

Russell Is Big Winner In Civil Rights Battle

By LYLE C. WILSON

WASHINGTON (UP — It is 24 days now since Georgia's Sen. Richard B. Russell called a foul on the Eisenhower administration for what he regarded as dishonestly sharp practices in merchandising its civil rights bill.

Russell spoke in the U. S. Senate on July 2. The burden of his indictment was this: That the administration bill was deliberately and craftily written for such purposes as the forcible integration of southern schools, hotels and swimming pools whereas it was being presented to the public as merely a bill to make it possible for eligible southern negroes to vote.

Mr. Wilson

Russell startled the Senate with his explanation of how the bill would authorize a president to order the Army, Navy and militia to enforce integration in all the public places of the South. He shocked his colleagues with an unqualified warning that blood would flow in any such process, that concentration camps woud have to come to hold the overflow from southern jails.

Administration Begins Retreat

The senator said he thought President Eisenhower did not know all that was in his own civil rights bill. Subsequent news conferences indicated Russell was correct. At that point in the first week of July, the administration began a strategic retreat on civil rights.

In the matter of three weeks since Russell spoke, the retreat has become a disorderly rout. The pending legislation, as now amended, more properly could be called a Russell bill for what is not in it than an administration bill for what it still contains.

The administration moved fast to check the Senate trend against the bill, although not fast enough. Sen. William . Knowland (R-Calif. was)leader of the Republican — Democratic coalition which sought Senate approval of the bill, which already had been approved by the House.

Knowland and others quickly decided to accept a pair of amendments proposed by Russell, one to require Senate confirmation of the person selected by the president to be staff director of the proposed civil rights commission. No. 2 was to remove from the bill authority for the proposed commission to accept the services of unpaid volunteers.

Bill's Author Unidentified

This second amendment was to prevent representatives of such organizations as the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People from volunteering as enforcers and investigators of civil rights. Provision for such volunteer opportunities was one of the parts of the bill which raised the question of who wrote the legislation in the first place. The provision for the use of armed forces was another. The author or authors remain unidentified.

The bill, substantially in the form it passed the House and reached the Senate, was sent to Congress by Atty. Gen. Herbert Brownell Jr. Brownell defended all of its provisions in public committee hearings. Under pressure of Russell's attack, however, the administration decided to retreat part way on enforced integration in the South.

Knowland and Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey (D-Minn.) teamed up in an effort to draft a compromise amendment which would have forbidden the attorney general to intervene with legal proceedings in behalf of southern integration except at the request of a local authority as, for example, a school board. That retreat was neither fast nor far enough. Efforts to achieve compromise ended in failure.

The Senate this week axed the integration section, leaving the bill just what it originally was advertised to be — a guarantee of the right to vote.

Get Away from It All in the Country

By JOHN H. DAY

Jutting deep into the remote heart of the brooding swamp, the "point" commands a wide sweep of fascinating water-soaked terrain. From this hidden observation post you can lie relaxed on a moss-grown bank while bull frogs converse all about you, and muskrat and mink thread the devious marshy pathways, bent on bog business of their own. Here is indeed an enchanted place, known only to countrymen who have learned the secret of this tiny promontory. Here I went after a pressure ridden week at the desk, to escape for a few precious moments from the world of telephones and traffic din into the blessed peace of the hemlock-shaded knoll where silence has lease.

To reach this hideaway you first ask the farmer's permission to follow his lane into the woodland edgings. You also ask him if the young bull in the field you must traverse in anti-social. Heedless of his reassurances you plan your approach with a fence always near at hand and by clambering over and under and through a motley assortment of wire barriers you finally come out onto the abandoned right-of-way of an early day railroad.

One more fence and you walk into a park-like area where hemlock and black gum and hard maple stand about in a sort of studied confusion, creating ever-changing vistas of wondrous beauty as you mosey along. Then suddenly you are aware of the sweet, hot, wild scent of the marsh and can see the glint of the hot sun in the water out ahead This is the swamp into which the hidden point has thrust a tiny height of dry land just to delight a countryman's heart.

The Indian Pike

There is a peculiar headiness to the scent of the marsh. It is compounded of sun and wind and the clean smell of acres of bleaching sedges, all mingled with the seethe and steam of a green blaze of growth that has leaped from the ooze to meet the summer. Through it drifted tiny elusive puffs of fragrance from the lovely swamp rose, blooming in the edges, and the ranks of blue pickerel weed standing in military array in the shallow water fifty yards out.

When you come to the water's edge and have sniffed your fill and marked the course of your return journey by the twin hemlocks and the grape-hung maple, you turn into a lovely stretch of woodland for the last half mile to the "point". Here in the shade and solitude grows that strange parasite, the Indian pipe. Clusters of the waxy white blooms are all over the ground. Corpse plant, it is also called, because of its colorless appearance and tendency to turn black when handled.

As you advance through this hemlock woodland you are suddenly conscious that you are following a sort of sketchy path. It rambles along over the leaves and hemlock needles and flinty stones as if without purpose. It favors detours around wind-fallen trees and objects to sudden effort. Some of the bends and veers are ridiculous. It cannot bring itself to go directly over a rise in the ground or a big stone, but ambles around them with a perceptible laziness.

Hidden Sanctuary

You stay with this path, passing close by a beaver dam and a tall hemlock now under process of being chewed off at the base. Just off-shore is a solid stand of the broad-leaved arrowhead, its pointed leaves aiming this way and that as if to protect it from browsing deer. Black alder and bog willow, bullrush and spatterdock, and the mountain holy with its gorgeous crimson fruits — all these marsh dwellers are in the receiving line along that pathway.

Finally you duck under a tremendous fallen log, push through a mucky spot full of deer tracks, and come out onto the point. That sudden splash is the surprised reaction of an exploring beaver to your noisy approach. Some excitable crows broadcast your trespass to all the swamp people. A pair of red-tailed hawks circle overhead, screaming their enjoyment of the steamy-hot day with its useful up-drafts. You stake out a place to sprawl in the moss and lose yourself in the solitude of that hidden sanctuary.

Strangely, the mosquitoes and deer flies are not too blood-thirsty on the point. You laze in half dreamy content, in love with the new life and the new world you find on that bit of barren land. The swamp is all about you, brooding and mysterious. The deep sense of solitude and loneliness is almost overpowering. A tiny breath of a breeze whispers swamp secrets as it talks its way across the point. A great blue heron flaps disconsolately along, probably full of fish and snakes and indigestion. These are the enchanted things which make confirmed bog-trotters of all true countrymen.

LOCALS

Mrs. W. S. Lamey, of Athalia Ave., returned home yesterday after visiting in Carnegie. She attended the golden wedding anniversary observance of Mr. and Mrs. C. H. McMurray, of Rowland Ave. The affair was held in the social rooms of the Methodist Church there, and among the guests were the pastor and his wife the Rev. and Mrs. Francis M. Keyes. The former was pastor at the Webster and Fells Methodist Churches several years ago.

Fernand Rousseau, Jr. has returned to Fort Eustis, Va., after spending a few days with his mother, Mrs. Eva Sekara, of Pricedale. While here his wife, Mrs. Tommy Rousseau, of Okmulgee, Oklahoma and her sister, came to spend her vacation with him.

Mr. and Mrs. Dominick Di Mascio and granddaughter Phyllis Pro, of Van Nuys, Calif., formerly of Monessen and Charleroi are spending several weeks visiting here with relatives. They are visiting Mr. DiMascio's father here and Mrs. DiMascio's parents in Charleroi.

Raymond Johnson, 11, will be the lay reader tomorrow morning at the 11 o'clock service at Trinity Episcopal Church. The church pastor, the Rev. David Dillon, will return from vacation this week and will be in charge of next week's service.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Rohland and daughters, Jackie and Colleen and Mr. and Mrs. Michael Matush and son, Michael, and Ann Grbin of Monessen, are spending the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Shephard, at Tideoute.

Eunice Echart, of New Jersey, who has been visiting this past week in Belle Vernon, visited yesterday with her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Wahl, of McKee Way.

Mr. and Mrs. William Lamey and two daughters, who have been visiting in Florida with Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Hibbs, arrived home today after a two week vacation.

Word has been received here that Mrs. George Helmboldt, of San Diego, Calif., who underwent major surgery a few weeks ago, has returned to her home and is getting along nicely.

Shirley Warholik, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Warholik, of Monessen, has been admitted to the Monongahela Memorial Hospital for a tonsilectomy.

Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Cook have returned to their home on Reed Ave. after spending several days in New Jersey.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Tokar and son, Rickey, of North Charleroi, have returned home after vacationing at Virginia Beach.

St. Mary's Choir will sing responses at the noon mass tomorrow, and all members are asked to be present a t11:45.

Tommy Boyer Honored Guest On Birthday

Tommy Boyer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Boyer, of 29 Westmoreland Dr., Park Plan, was the honored guest at a party held at his home on Wednesday afternoon. The affair was arranged in observance of his eighth birthday anniversary, and was attended by a group of friends.

Games were played and those winning prizes were Douglas Crusan, Denny Frew, Denny Tallerico, Billy Rose, Billy Szabo and John Kunsa.

Yellow and green was the color scheme used for all decorations and appointments in the serving of luncheon. The large birthday cake, which was presented to the guest of honor, was also in yellow and green. He was presented with many other gifts, which he opened at the close of the afternoon.

Assisting Mrs. Boyer in serving were Mrs. Irene Wanzilak and Linda DiBiaso, cousin of the honored guest.

B. P. W. Members Plan Trip to Jennerstown

A highlight of the informal summer season for the members of the Monessen Business and Professional Women's Club will be a trip to the Mountain Playhouse at Jennerstown on Thursday evening, Aug. 1.

The trip will be made by private cars and all members planning to attend are asked to pick up their tickets from Catharine Harris at Hibbs Agency no later than Wednesday.

The group will attend the showing of "Bernardine". They will then have late refreshments at Green Gables.

Shirley Fretz, John Telkey Are Engaged

Announcement has been made of the engagement of Shirley Jane Fretz and John Telkey. She is the daughter of Mrs. Martha Fretz, of Fayette City, who made the betrothal known, and her fiance is the son of Mrs. Violet Telkey, of Charleroi.

Plans are being made by the couple for a September wedding.

BIRTH

Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Johnson, of Scenery Hill, a son, six pounds, six ounces, July 25, at 10:16 a. m., at the Charleroi-Monessen Hospital.

A TWO PIECE SUIT of black imported French cotton comes from the spring collection of a famous designer. The jacket is fastened with gleaming buttons and half belted with patent leather.

Joint Picnic Tomorrow at Palmer Park

Tomorrow at Palmer Park in Donora there will be a picnic sponsored jointly by the St. Spyridon Church and the G.A.P.A. lodge. All plans for a full program have been completed.

Committees in charge include Spiros Monios and Thomas Kanes, refreshments; Gust Manos and Dr. George Retos, tickets and Anthony Stupakis, games. James August and Mike Mermigas will supervise the barbecue.

Others assisting with the affair will include Adam Kavouros, George Peters, Christ Bouyoukas, Gust Eacovides, John Klidas, George Mermigas, James Peters Milton Stupakis, James Melissas and Ted Mermigas.

Many prizes donated by local merchants will be awarded during the afternoon. The picnic program will begin at 1 p. m. and conclude at 9 p. m.

Dolan-Sphar Family Reunion At Deems Park

Descendants of John Henry Dolan and Ida May Sphar Dolan, will meet for their annual family reunion tomorrow at Deems Park.

There will be a picnic dinner served at 1 p. m. and supper at 6 p. m.

All relatives and friends of the family are invited to attend. Betty Dolan Wallace is secretary to the group.

Two Retreats Planned at Seton Hill

The Sisters of Charity will hold two retreats for lay women at Seton Hill College in Greensburg during August.

The Rev. David C. Marshall C.S.Sp. will return for the second consecutive year to conduct the Aug. 16-18 retreat which is sponsored by the Catholic Daughters of America.

Father Marshall received his Ph.D degree from Louisiana State University, and joined the faculty of Duquesne University in 1954. In 1955 he was made head of the English department.

The second retreat will be sponsored by the Pittsburgh Council of Catholic Women, which will open Aug. 22 and conclude Aug. 25. The Rev. Martin Lombardi, director of the Paulist Mission, Chicago, will be in charge.

Father Lombardi, a native of New York City, formerly directed the Paulist center in San Franciso, but is now in charge of retreats and lectures.

The theme of both conferences will be "Problems Faced by Catholic Women in this Modern Time". There will be group sessions and individual meditations.

Two evening pilgrimages are also being planned along with the retreat program. Recreational facilities of the college are available.

Women need not belong to either sponsoring group to attend these retreats. Reservations can be sent to Sister Regina Clare, Seton Hill College, Greensburg.

Area Couple Recites Vows

Before an altar banked with white carnations and ferns in St. Anthony R. C. Church of Monongahela the wedding of Angela Marie DiCenzo and Pvt. Ralph V. Greco was solemnized.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Guido DiCenzo, of 119 Short St., Monongahela, and her husband is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Louis Greco, who were residents of Donora.

The Rev. Joseph L. Abbate, church pastor heard the exchange of vows in a double ring ceremony, June 22. Roberta Martin Ravasio, organist, provided the wedding music.

Wears Chantilly

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a floor length gown of Chantilly lace over slipper satin and nylon. The fitted bodice was styled with long pointed sleeves and a V neckline. Her matching fingertip veil was held in place by a crown of lace and pearls. She carried a lace handkerchief given her by her aunt, Mrs. Anthony Mauro, of Monessen. Her only jewelry was a strand of Valencia pearls, and she carried a cascade bouquet of white roses with satin streamers.

Maid of honor was the cousin of the bride, Vincetta Mauro, of Monessen. She wore a yellow floor length gown of Chantilly lace with wide ruffles. The fitted bodice styled with off the shoulder sleeves was accented with a V neckline. She wore a tiara of yellow flowers and net, and carried a cascade of red roses.

Three Bridesmaids

Bridesmaids were two other cousins of the bride, Yvonne Pansino, of Monessen, and Merrie Martino, of Monongahela. They wore ensembles of pale blue similar to that worn by the honor attendant. Another bridesmaid was Lee McGowan, of Fairhope, fiancee of the bride's brother. She wore a pale pink ensemble. All three carried cascade bouquets of yellow roses.

Victor Greco, the bridegroom's brother and Lou Greco, of Donora, and the bride's only brother Ronald DiCenzo.

Mrs. DiCenzo chose a blue linen sheath dress with white accessories for her daughter's wedding. Mrs. Vincenzo Malena, maternal grandmother of the bride, was dressed in a blue silk floral print with matching accessories. Mrs. Michael Kozar, of Donora, sister of the bridegroom, wore a black silk dress with white accessories. All three wore yellow rose corsages.

Wedding Dinner

A wedding dinner was served at the home of the bride for the bridal party. Later there was a reception for 300 guests at Turner Hall. Streamers and white wedding bells decorated the hall, and a four tiered wedding cake centered the bridal table. Mrs. James Pagonis, of Monongahela, aunt of the bride, was hostess for the reception. Other aunts assisting were Mrs. Albert Zincola, Mrs. Joseph Scigliano, both of Cleveland, Ohio; Mrs. Rocco Pansino, Mrs. Anthony Mauro and Mrs. Ted Opalinski, of Monessen; Marie Martino and Mrs. Helen Malena, of Monongahela. Mrs. Kozar and Mrs. Edward Tabish, of Donora, sisters of the groom, were also aides.

For traveling the new Mrs. Greco wore a two piece orchid sheath dress with white accessories and a white orchid corsage.

Shower Here

Before the wedding there was a surprise shower held at the Mauro home in Monessen.

The bride presented her attendants gifts of pearls and the groom gave the men of the wedding party cuff links and tie clasps.

After their wedding trip the couple went to live in Kennewick, Washington. The trip was made by plane. They were accompanied to the airport by a party of friends and relatives.

The bride was graduated from Monongahela High School with this year's class. The bridegroom was graduated from Donora High School and is serving at Camp Hanford, Washington, as a military policeman.

HEART DISEASE PROBABLY HAS NOT INCREASED...

The increasing number of reports of heart disorders as a cause of death has been brought about by the success of medicine. Many persons who formerly might have died of other diseases now live long and useful lives—eventually to succumb to a failing heart which has performed its lifetime of duty.

Therefore—as we grow older, the care of the heart must be considered in our every activity. Have regular check-ups by your Doctor, and follow his guidance carefully. He probably can help to keep your heart functioning for many extra years of buoyant and happy life. Whenever medication is required, we will be happy to have you bring your prescriptions to this Pharmacy.

ON THE BALL

By CLAIR BROWN

Pirates Even 'Drew' Back in 1900's

Apparently the Pittsburgh Pirates packed 'em in even back in the early 1900's. According to an old National League record book a crowd of 30,338 was on hand when Forbes Field was formally opened on June 30, 1909. Following true to form, even then, the Bucs dropped a one-run tilt to Chicago, 3-2. A note in the record book on the formal opening described Forbes Field as "the finest, most commodious and best appointed ball park in the world." That takes in a lot of territory, eh, wot? . . . A more modern note on Forbes Field lists the Lee Handleys as the winners over the Frankie Gustine's 3-2, in the annual sandlot tilt there the other day with Charleroi's Carl Witmyer the losing hurler despite fanning six batters in three innings. Faulty fielding gave the winners their runs.

Monongahela High School officials and the board there have decided they might not name an assistant grid mentor to replace Frank Lignelli, who has accepted a post at Clarion State Teachers College. Richard Barclay of West Newton was named to succeed Lignelli as driver training instructor but the administration recommended separating the position from the coaching tie-in as the two jobs conflict dur- the grid season . . . Another Monongahela development is the rehiring of band director George Watkinson, who left last year to take a post with the Mt. Lebanon Schools. His successor Paul McCandless resigned at Monongahela to accept a position in the Meadville system, so Watkinson returned. You'll see the snappy Wildcat band at the Greyhound - Wildcat grid game in September.

Something Behind Bragan's Winter Job?

There may be no significance to it at all but it could mean something (what, is up to you) that Pirate General Manager Joe L. Brown has given Field Manager Bobby Bragan permission to manage in the Cuban League this winter. The same request was denied last year. Bragan picks up about 9,000 pesos for piloting the Almandares nine. Not a bad chore for the winter months . . . By the way, Bragan thinks Dick Groat, Buc shortstop, Dick Cole, ex-Buc, now of the Braves and Gene Mauch, another former Pirate, currently cavorting for the Red Sox have the makings of major league managers . . . More on Bragan — he'll have Paul Smith and Johnny Powers, Danny Kravitz and Howie Goss of the Bucs' minor league system on his Almandares team.

* * *

Jimmy Wilkes, the 13-year-old son of Brownsville minister F. D. Wilkes who drowned in the Monongahela River Monday, is a brother of Fred, an all-around athlete at Brownsville High the past three seasons . . .The ol' Monongahela is becoming more popular as ever as a summer sports paradise but it is certainly taking its toll of lives with more drownings this summer than in many years. . . . The Pittsburgh Steelers have asked permission of Ligonier High School officials to use the high school athletic field there between Sept. 9 and 28 . . . Speaking of the Steelers, there are still seats remaining for the home games, season ducats that is, so its not too late to inquire when you are near the pro grid team's office in Pittsburgh, as to the location of the remaining seats.

'Secret' Big Six Vote 'Leaks Out'

Voting by the valley high school principals on whether Redstone was "in" or "out" of the Big Six was supposed to be a secret but as always in such situations there has been a leak. A report from Uniontown states that Monessen, Donora, and Monongahela voted against admitting the Blackhawks, Brownsville and Charleroi favoring admission of the 'Hawks. Under the league's constitution only two votes are needed to "blackball" an applicant . . . Members of the K of C Little League baseball team in the Belle Vernon Lions-Bellmarette Joint School District-sponsored Little League will be feted as special guests at the annual picnic of the Belle Vernon Knights of Columbus tomorrow at Idlewild Park. The players' families are also invited to attend.

Today's Sports Parade—

'Stop Mantle You Stop Yankees', Lopez Agrees

By OSCAR FRALEY

NEW YORK (UP) — Fearless Fraley's facts and figures:

If you have any doubts but what Mickey Mantle is the lead sparkplug of the New York Yankees, take the word of Chicago manager Al Lopez—he is.

"Stop Mantle and you stop the Yankees," Al says emphatically, "particularly in view of the fact that Yogi Berra isn't having an exceptionally good year."

The White Sox en masse hold that while stopping Mantle may not completely halt the Yankee juggernaut, it puts a dent in those New York wheels. And, concentrating on Mantle, the Sox are only two games back of the Yanks on the season series, 9-7.

One of the toughest tournaments of the year will be staged at San Diego Aug. 23-25 when dare-devil water skiers compete in the 15th annual national championships.

They'll shoot for the record set by Al Rosenberg in 1955, when he leaped 125 feet off the six - foot ramp at 35 miles per hour. They might break the mark, too, with a new crack-the-whip technique which sends them up the ramp at an angle at speeds up to 50 miles an hour. Anyone for tennis?

Basketball men don't think much of the pro basketball chance of 5-foot, 9-inch Chet Forte, the Columbia All-America who has signed with the Cincinnati Royals. Height is just too important.

Newsmen "Favoring" Williams

This may be the reason why Boston scribes keep "on" Ted Williams. The Boston Red Sox slugger admits that "I seem to do better at the plate when I'm mad because it seems to sharpen my reflexes." So they're doing him a favor.

Lionel Hebert, the new PGA champion, entered his first tournament at the age of nine. It was a caddy tournament and the first prize, which he won by chipping in from off the green, was—two bottles of whiskey.

He never won another tournament until he took the PGA crown last week—20 years after his first tournament triumph.

Ozarks Cop Third Straight Win, 6-4

Crawley, Hill, Johnson Homers Defeat Donora

Monessen's redhot Ozarks of the Mon Valley League moved into fourth place, at least for the weekend with their third victory in a row topping Donora, 6-4, at Ninth Street Park.

Meanwhile New Eagle and Charleroi were playing to a 3-3 tie and Perry was rallying to edge a surprising West Newton nine, 6-5, Van Voorhis-Fayette City game was postponed.

Crawley Homers Again

Carl Crawey, currently hitting at a tremendous pace was the big gun again for the locals last night as he went three for three including his third homer in three games.

Manager Pappy Johnson and Neil Hill also checked in with round-trippers, the only other Monessen batters to hit safely except for Fuzzy Anderson's double and a triple by Bob Mastracci.

Monessen took a commanding lead in the first inning after Donora had tallied once on a triple by Dave Russell and John Szymcyk's single. In the Ozark first Pappy Johnson and Mike Young both balled and then came home on Hill's third homer of the year. Crawley then stopped to the plate and clouted his seventh for the 4-1 lead.

Johnson hit for the circuit to lead off the third while Crawley garnered his second hit and then scored on Bob Mastracci's triple.

Comeback Falls Short

Donora tried desperately to comeback with one in the fifth and two in the seventh, the uprising in the last frame chasing Fuzzy Anderson who started for the locals. Bill Mitnick came in to put out the fire. Local product Mel Mills, paying for Donora, lined to Pappy Johnson to end the game.

Ray Chatalk had eight strikeouts for Donora despite absorbing the loss.

The Ozarks return to action Monday at West Van Voorhis.

Myfords Take Over 2nd Place

Second place in the City Softball League belonged exclusively to the Myfords today following a 6-4 victory over Italian Hall at City Park last night.

The winners started early with two runs in the first inning on singles by Bill Radosh and Dick DiCenzo plus a double by Geno DeMarino, which plated both runs.

Three More Markers

Three more Myford runs crossed in the fourth on three consecutive bunt singles an error and a line single by Jim Hayes.

Meanwhile Italian Hall went to work with one in the fourth and three in the fifth to close the gap to 5-4. Successive singles by Doc Destefano, Gene Quinn and Steve Hardoby accounted for the run in the fourth, the three in the fifth coming on a walk, single by Del Frew, an error and a single by Hank Dellamalva.

Myford's insurance run in the fifth came off the bat of Dick DiCenzo who blasted a homer, with no one on base.

DiCenzo Paces Winners

DiCenzo with his homer and a single and Bill Radosh and Palmer Rue with two singles paced the winners at bat while Destefano and Quinn with two safe blows led the losers. Turcaso topped Sekoski in the hurling department.

Action resumes Monday with Cro-Ams battling ULBA. There will be no game Tuesday due to the Community Picnic at Kennywood.

Steelers Sign Michalik, Krupa

PITTSBURGH (UP) — Guards Art Michalik and Joe Krupa signed contracts with the Pittsburgh Steelers Friday for the 1957 National Football League season.

Michalik, of Chicago, off-season wrestler, understudied Dale Dodrill the past two seasons. He attended St. Ambrose College, Davenport Iowa.

Krupa, also of Chicago, is an ex-Purdue star. He will start his second year in pro ball.

The signings bring the Steeler roster to 44.

The Steelers also announced the signing of Zip Brooks, Warren, Ohio, as trainer. Brooks was trainer for the Pittsburgh Pirates minor league farm club at Jacksonville, Fla.

Charleroi-New Eagle In 3-3 MVL Tie

Charleroi and New Eagle played to a 3-3 Mon Valley League tie at New Eagle's Race Track Field last night as the home team rallied to win.

Taking a 3-2 lead into the last frame Charleroi saw Steve Lomago single for New Eagle, advance on a sacrifice by Bob Gondos and score on a single by Vic Furiga before Joe Kopach put out the fire.

Roy Barli with a double and Carmen Cappelli with a three-bagger were the top Charleroi hitters, Jess Leach tripling for the host nine.

The game will be replayed at a later date.

Perry Rallies to Nip West Newton, 6-5

West Newton gave Perryopolis quite a scare in the Mon Valley League last night before bowing 6-5 as Perry garnered three runs in the sixth.

The cellar-dwellers scored four runs in the third inning to take a 4-1 lead over the third-place Perry nine but the eventual victors got two back in the fifth after West Newton had added another in their half of the same frame or a 5-3 count.

In the sixth inning Perry loaded the bases and Bill Thomas leaned into a hight, hard one or a triple, cleaning the sacks and winning the game.

DOCTORING YOUR GOLF

By CARY MIDDLECOFF

In The Rough

Whn you knock your ball into heavy rough, the first thing you want to do is get it back on the track. In such a case select a club with loft enough to raise the ball out of the deep grass and on to the fairway.

Two major factors are to be considered here. If you take a longer and less-lofted club for the shot from heavy grass, the swing will have a longer arc; therefore, the clubhead will have to come through the grass for several inches to get to the ball. Also, with the less-lofted club, the ball will not rise quickly, and the ball will have to go through the heavy grass for several inces before rising out of it.

Both these facotsr wiiu iicy.. Both thse facotrs will cut down your chances for making a good shot out of heavy grass. The grass may catch your clubhead and turn it before the ball is met. Or the heavy grass will severely reduce the speed of the ball before letting it escape.

So take a club with plenty of loft. And use a downward stroke, so the clubhead will not have to be dragged through the grass.

Bucs Lose Another Close One

Dark's Hit Wins for Cards, 4-3

ST. LOUIS (UP)—It was another near victory for the Pittsburgh Pirates Friday night as they bowed to the St. Louis Cardinals, 4-3, in 10 innings.

Ron Kline dropped his 15th decision of the season against two wins when Alvin Dark punched a looping single into short right-center with the bases loaded to end the game.

In the eighth inning, with the score tied 3-3, pitcher Willard Schmidt took a run away from the Pirates with a brilliant field play. He threw perfectly to catcher Hobie Landrith after picking up a hard hit liner by Gene Baker which bounced off his glove. Landrith then tagged Dick Groat out to end the Pirate threat.

Early Buc Lead

The Pirates got off to an early lead of 3-0, but the Cardinals tied the score with three runs in the fifth on homers by Ken Boyer and Don Blasingame and a double by Ed Kasko.

In the 10th inning, after the Pirates had gone runless, Landrith walked and Kasko was safe on a bunt. Landrith went to third and Kasko to second when Kline threw wide to first trying to double Kasko after catching Eddie Miksis's pop bunt. Blasingame was intentionally walked, to fill the bases and Dark followed with the game-winning single.

The Pirates meet St. Louis in an afternoon game today with Bob Purkey (9-7) scheduled to pitch against Von McDaniel (4-2).

Hilltops Surprise Prep Blackhawks, 4-3

John Bogovich's two-run homer in the first inning went for naguth in Prep League action here yesterday as his Blackhawk mates lost to second-place Hilltops, 4-2.

Kenny Bronson edged Bogovich in a mound battle where each hurler gave up only five hits. Bronson fanned eight and walked five. Bogovich struck out six and issued four bases on balls.

After Bogovich helped himself to a 2-1 lead in the first inning, the Hilltops cut it to 2-1 only to fall behind 3-1 in the third but single Topper markers in the fourth, fifth and sixth spelled the difference.

Bronson doubled to aid his own cause as did teammate James Barker while Philip Reed contributed a triple.

Only a half-game now separates the two top teams, the 'Hawks showing a 10-3 mark, the Hilltoppers, 10-4.

Yanks Pull Upset Over Sox Minors

It was upset day in the local Little League Minor League yesterday as the Yanks showed surprisingly power in chalking up a 12-5 win over the White Sox.

The victory was only the second for the cellar-dwelling Yanks all season.

Masterful hurling by Richard Albert plus the 12-hit attack on White Sox pitching was the winning combination. Albert fanned 14 and walked five to five strikeouts and two bases on balls by Andrew Temoshenka of the Sox.

Francis Hnatko sloved Albert for a double while but that was the only extra base blow he allowed. Meanwhile, his mates Michael Hreno, Tallerico and Gerald Vitale supplied two-base blows and Pushcar clubbed a triple. Albert also contributed a double to his own cause.

Large Entry List For Heidelberg

More than 30 entries already have been received for the sprint car races at Heidelberg Raceway Sunday afternoon.

Time trials now will begin at noon and the first of five preliminary races at 2.30 p. m. The 20 fastest cars will qualify for the final 50-lap feature.

Johnny White, Hazel Park, Mich., point leader in the All-American Racing Club, heads the field. Red Amick, North Hollywood, Calif., who won the AARC title last season, currently is No. 2 in points.

Bobby Tattersal, veteran dirt track driver from Streater, Ill., is a late entry who figures to give the AARC leaders a run for their money.

Herb Scott, who leads the Pittsburgh Racing Assn. sportsman division, will be the top local entry. Also entered from the district is Bill Kessler of Glenshaw who was National Auto Racing Assn. champion in 1955.

The races will be run in inverted order — best cars in the rear — the same as the PRA sportsman races.

'Retread' Nippy Jones Keeps Patched-up Braves Atop NL

By MILTON RICHMAN

Milwaukee's injury-riddled lineup has more patches in it than an old inner tube and the only reason the Braves were still atop the National League today was a 32-year-old "retread" named Nippy Jones.

Jones, the ex-Cardinal brought up from the minors last week as first base insurance for injured Joe Adcock, paid a whopping dividend Friday night when he clouted a three-run homer in the 11th inning for a 6-3 victory over the Giants.

It was only Jones' second hit in 12 trips since the Braves obtained him from Sacramento of the Pacific Coast League but it served to protect Milwaukee's half-game lead over the challenging Cardinals, who defeated the Pirates, 4-3, in 10 innings.

Skinny Gene Conley, who pitched hitless ball after relieving starter Lew Burdette in the ninth inning, was the winner for Milwaukee in a game marked by five homers. In addition to Jones' homer, Ed Mathews also connected for the Braves while Hank Sauer, Ruben Gomez and Ed Bressoud hit circuit blows for the Giants. Red Schoendienst of Milwaukee extended his batting streak to 23 consecutive games.

In other National League games, Cincinnati defeated Brooklyn, 6-5, in 1 innings and the Phillies beat the Cubs, 3-1, in 10 innings.

Chisox Move Up

Jim Bunning of Detroit limited the Yankees to two hits in beating them, 3-2, and cutting their American League lead to three games over the second - place White Sox, who split a twi-night double-header with the Orioles. Baltimore won the opener, 5-2, and Chicago the nightcap, 1-0.

The Red Sox mauled Cleveland, 10-1, as Willard Nixon held the Indians to eight hits, while Washington climbed to within a game and one-half of seventh place with a 3-2 triumph over Kansas City.

Alvin Dark's looping single with the bases loaded in the 10th inning kept the Cards right on the Braves' heels and handed Pirate reliever Ronnie Kline his 15th setback of the season. Pittsburgh took a 3-0 lead off Lindy McDaniel but St. Louis tied the score with three runs in the fifth on Ken Boyer's homer, Ed Kasko's double and Don Blasingame's homer. Willard Schmidt, who relieved McDaniel in the sixth, registered his ninth victory.

Reliever Hersh Freeman doubled off Roger Craig in the 11th and rode home on Johnny Temple's single for the run that beat Brooklyn. The Redlegs rallied for five runs in the fifth inning with the aid of homers by Ed Bailey and Gus Bell but the Dodgers tied the game with two runs in the eighth and two more in the ninth. Elmer Valo homered for Brooklyn.

The Phillies rallied for two runs in the 10th inning as Warren Hacker beat his former Cub teammates for his sixth victory. Philadelphia registered the deciding runs on Ed Bouchee's double, an error by reliever Turk Lown, and a single by Harry Anderson. Bob Rush dropped his 11th game.

Mantle Hits No. 27

Bunning had a no-hitter going until Yogi Berra led off the seventh with a triple and then scored on a sacrifice fly. The only other hit off the Tiger right hander was Mickey Mantle's 27th homer in the ninth inning. Bob Turley, the loser, gave up only four hits, the Tigers scoring what proved to be the winning run in the fifth on Bill Tuttle's triple and Al Kaline's infield single.

In the Orioles-White Sox opener, Ray Moore curbed Chicago on four hits while Baltimore hopped on Jack Harshman for five runs in the first inning. Joe Durham's three-run homer was the big blow of the frame.

Jim Wilson gave up only two hits in the nightcap and was the winner although he needed ninth-inning relief from southpaw Billy Pierce. The White Sox scored the only run of the game off Ken Lehman in the second inning on Larry Doby's walk, Luis Aparicio's single and Sam Esposito's sacrifice fly.

Norm Zauchin and Ted Williams drove in seven runs between them in leading Boston to its victory over Cleveland. Zauchin drove in four runs with a homer, a bases-loaded double and a single while Williams drove in three runs and boosted his league-leading average to .364 with a double and a single.

Pedro Ramos held the Athletics to eight hits in pitching the Senators to their third victory in a row. Ramos had a shutout until the A's scored their two runs on three hits. Arnie Portocarrero was the loser.

Safety Minder On 1957 Buick Displayed At Mon Valley Motors

Buick for '57 has made every effort for added safety in its cars displayed in Monessen by Mon Valley Motors, Inc., 252 East Donner avenue.

A safety minder, which automatically sets off a buzzer when a predetermined speed is reached, is offered as a safety feature on all 1957 Buicks.

The safety minder, which is part of the speedometer, is standard on the Roadmaster and optional on all other series.

Here is the way it works. If you are driving on the open road and the speed limit is 65 miles per hour, set the safety minder on that figure. As soon as you reach 65, the buzzer sounds to warn you you have reached maximum speed. The buzzing will continue until you reduce your speed.

The same procedure is followed when driving in city traffic. Set the safety minder at the legal speed limit or below it and it will warn you when you are in danger of exceeding that speed.

The safety minder, which is part any speed desired merely by turning a knob on the instrument panel.

The low silhouette of the 1957 Buicks was obtained by spreading the siderails of the frame and nestling the body between them. The driveshaft was lowered, to reduce the tunnel height inside the car, by the addition of a second universal joint near the rear axle. Some 1957 Buick models are as much as three and three-eighths inches lower than last year.

In the last three years Buick has boosted the cubic displacement of the V-8 engine in its Special series by 100 cubic inches — from 264 to 364 cubic inches.

Three-piece back windows are featured on all Buick Special and Century models in 1957 and are standard on the Roadmaster. The one-piece back window is standard on the Super and is offered as an option on the Roadmaster at no extra cost.

Buick's new hardtop estate wagon is available in both the Special and Century series. Conventional four-door styling, with the center pillar, also is offered on one model of the estate wagon in the Special series.

A vacuum booster pump improves windshield wiper operation on all 1957 Buicks, eliminating their tendency to slow down when the car is accelerated.

George M. McCrory and Son, funeral directors.

3 Memorials

In memory of our dear husband and father, John Yates, who passed away one year ago today, July 27, 1956.
They say time heals all sorrows, and helps us to forget,
But time so far has only proved how much we miss you yet.
God gave us strength to fight it and courage to bear the blow,
But what it meant to lose you, no one will ever know.
Sadly missed by Wife and Family

In loving memory of our dear father and grandfather, George Yuhasz, who died six years ago today, July 27, 1951.
We live today with memories
Of days when you were here.
We miss you still and always will
Throughout each day and year.
At night when all is silent
And sleep forsakes our eyes,
Our thoughts are in that lonely grave
Where our dear loved one lies.
Sadly missed by his Sons, Daughters and Grandchildren

In loving memory of our dear wife and mother, Mrs. Anna Kobaly, who died one year ago today, July 27, 1956.
Peaceful be thy rest dear loved one,
It is sweet to breathe thy name.
In life we loved you dearly,
In death we do the same.
A silent thought, a secret tear
Keeps your memory ever dear.
Sadly missed by Wasil Kobaly and daughter, Marian Dubnansky

Leather Jewelry For Fall

By GAY PAULEY

NEW YORK (UP)—This week in Manhattan:

All that glitters is only part gold in some of the fall jewelry. The rest is fur or leather.

One costume jewelry manufacturer, Coro, introduced a collection of bracelets, pendants, cuff links and earrings in leopard. The only touch of metal was in the simulated gold setting for the fur. The firm also showed leather in such shades as winter navy, plum red, and emerald green forming the "jewel" center for gold-rimmed bracelets, earrings, pins and pendants.

Pendants, or the lavaliers of our grandmother's day, are featured in most new jewelry collections. The fashion coordination institute for the industry reported some pendants swinging from necklaces 20 to 25 inches long.

The institute reported these other highlights:

Pins of all sizes, will be worn mix or match, on lapels, or for variety on the pocket flap of a suit or the sleeve of a coat.

Jewelry colors will blend with costumes, except when the clothes are black. Then the rule is contrasting color. But topaz jewelry will be on the counters by the ton, to go with the whole family of browns in the new clothes. Other leading shades will be emerald, ruby and a smoky charcoal tone which one manufacturer called "black diamond."

Gold and silver jewelry will have a textured appearance—described by the institute as "like the veins in a leaf."

New York designers, who two weeks ago presented their new styles, left skirt lengths "as is" for fall. But some designers in London and Rome this week featured hemlines as much as 17 inches from the floor.

Whether this shorter skirt will be featured in Paris, we won't know until next week when the French collections including the one from Christian Dior will be shown. If hemlines do go up, there is one comfort, ladies. If, alter we must, we have more fabric to work with than when the hemline is going down.

Youth Rushed To Hospital; False Alarm

PITTSBURGH (UP)—Four-year-old Alan Croft screamed. His nine-year-old brother Frank rushed to tell his mother that a snake had bitten Alan while the youngsters were playing in a garden. Probably a poisonous copperhead.

Two tell-tale slashes showed on Alan's left ankle. Neighbors confirmed it was probably a snake bite.

Alan was ruhed to the dipensary of a nearby Air Force installation, where a doctor looked at Alan's swelling ankle and ordered the boy taken immediately to Children's Hospital, a 15-mile drive from the Croft home in suburban Coraopoils Heights.

The doctor gave Mrs. Croft a precious phial of anti-snakebite serum to carry along.

Police cleared roads. Motorcycle troopers escorted the car all the way.

Throughout the night, nurses kept a close watch on Alan's swollen ankle.

Friday, doctors diagnosed Alan's injury as a double bee sting.

Military Rule Ends Colombians Plan

BOGOTA, Colombia (UP)—The five-man Colombian military government laid plans today for the end of military rule and the election of a new president and congress next May 4.

The junta ordered the elections Friday. It also ordered dissolved the National Constituent Ahsembly which re-elected dictator Gustavo Rojas Pinilla president last May 8. Two days later he was ousted by a popular movement backed by the Roman Catholic Church and went into exile. The present junta succeeded him.

Panama Traffic Setting Record

BALBOA, C.Z. (UP)—Ocean-going traffic through the Panama Canal this month is moving at the highest rate in history, Panama Canal Co. officials reported today.

The average rate of transit so far is 27.4 ships a day. This compares with 27.1 for the entire month of March, the previous record month.

On Inside Job

DAVENPORT, Iowa (UP) — Sheriff Pete Wildman didn't have to go very far to serve warrants on two men charged with assault with intent to commit robbery. The men, prisoners at the Scott County Jail, are charged with robbing another inmate.

$1,250,000 Blaze Roars Through Dock in Boston

BOSTON (UP)—A fire causing damage estimated at more than $1,250,000 roared today through the Mystic River Docks, menacing ships and nearby fuel elevators.

Damage estimates indicated it would be one of the biggest dock fires in Boston history.

About 2,000 men struggled through the night attempting to keep flames from reaching the fuel elevators. At least five firefighters were overcome by smoke and hospitalized.

Fire Chief John F. Howard said the fire "probably will burn for days." Deputy Fire Chief William Hogan said it was the worst dock blaze in "at least 16 years."

Two Boston fireboats and Navy fire vessels led an armada of small ships in assisting 60 fire trucks in combatting the flames.

Flames broke out in the Pocahontas Fuel Yard, an area leased from the Boston & Maine Railroad, owners of the Mystic Docks, a comparatively new waterfront facility.

No cause was immediately determined, but firemen said the explosion - punctuated blaze could have started from spontaneous combustion.

A porpoise has no outside ear, but a tiny hole just behind each eye permits it to hear under water.

Search on for Forceps

CHICAGO (UP)—Hospital authorities' today faced a threat of legal action unless they produce a pair of missing 5-inch forceps found in the body of a patient and later lost.

Deputy Coroner Cornelius Dore Friday continued an inquest into the death of Joseph Olson, 59, until Aug. 2 and instructed Woodlawn Hospital authorities to locate the forceps reported to have been found in Olson's body during an autopsy Thursday.

Dore, however, appeared to have some doubts as to the existence of the forceps.

"I don't know where the forceps are," he said, "in fact I don't know if there are any since we had no testimony about them."

Olson, a carpenter and native of Sweden, died at the hospital Wednesday where he was taken after complaining of stomach cramps and nausea. His wife requested an autopsy because Olson had been in apparent good health.

Olson, who had undergone three abdominal operations, was operated on twice at Woodlawn, the most recent taking place June 28.

During the autopsy, Dr. Francis Archer said he discovered the forceps and left them in the abdominal cavity while he went to call the coroner's office.

Dr. Harold Wagner, a coroner's pathologist was sent over to complete the autopsy. Hospital police said that Wagner admitted seeing the forceps but noted they were missing and he and Archer "washed up" after the examination.

Detective Thomas Ormand said Wagner testified he had placed the forceps in a tray. That was the last time he saw them.

Ormand said hospital authorities theorized that the forceps were thrown in with other surgical instruments for sterlization, and later returned to a cabinet.

Hard to Beat Plain Aspirin

By H. N. BUNDESEN, M. D.

If I were to be deprived of all our wonderful modern medicines and told that I could only have one drug to use for my patients, do you know which I would choose?

I think I would pick the old reliable, acetylsalicylic acid, or just plain aspirin, one of the most widely used and cheapest drugs we have.

Not only can we use aspirin in treating so many ailments, but we can use it with perfect safety. Proof of this is demonstrated in the fact that some 12,000,000,000 five-grain aspirin tablets are consumed in the United States each year.

Aspirin can be used for alleviating pain. I'm sure most of you have used it many times to get rid of headaches and other minor pains.

If you have not used aspirin, chances are you have used one of the large number of pain-killing preparations which use aspirin as a major ingredient.

Aspirin is an aid in combating rheumatic diseases. It is widely used in treating rheumatic fever, rheumatoid arthritis and similar diseases.

In fact, many doctors say aspirin is as effective in this field as are ACTH and cortisone.

Aspirin also is used universally to help reduce feber. When you have a cold, your doctor generally suggests taking aspirin to bring your temperature down.

Aspirin has been around quite a while. For 103 years, it has been used to relieve pain, reduce fever and inflammation, but we still don't know much about it.

This is another reason why I think I would choose aspirin if I could use but a single drug. In my spare time, I could do some research on it.

Frankly, aspirin still is a mystery to medical men. We know it works, but we don't know just why.

R. C.: I have been working in a uranium mine. I wonder if there is any danger from the radioactive substance?

Answer: The amount of radioactivity in the ore being mined is very low. Therefore, the chances of injury to you would be slight.

Donald Crisp Senior Citizen of Hollywood

By ALINE MOSBY

HOLLYWOOD (UP) — When movie studios want to make a multi-million dollar epic, ofter the powerful man they turn to for the money is—a quiet, elderly character actor in their movies.

Donald Crisp at 73 is Hollywood's senior citizen, completing his 381st picture, "Saddle the Wind," now at MGM and rounding out his 51st year as an actor and director, a record unequalled by any other featured player.

But the veteran Scotsman has another distinction seldom known to fans who remember him in the recent "Man rom Laramie," back to "How Green Was My Valley," the Lassie pictures, "Mutiny on the Bounty" and "The Birth of a Nation."

A Bank Executive

Since 1907 the actor has been an executive of the Bank of America. That institution, the largest bank in the country, actually is the motion picture industry as it loans the millions of dollars that make the pictures.

For 23 years Crisp was chairman of the bank's film advisory board. Now he is a member of the executive board "but they still ask my opinion on pictures up for loans."

During his reign as chairman, Crisp literally held the purse strings in Hollywood. Many a studio turning out an epic still curiously has to deal first with this actor-banker who might be receiving supporting billing in the picture.

Crisp fell into this unique position because he became a friend of the bank's founder, A.P. Giannini in 1907.

"Since I knew something about movies he asked me to look over scripts and give advice on whether the bank should loan money for the picture. If I thought the set-up was good I would sanction the deal and loan the money," he said.

"Word got around what I was doing and I lost a lot of friends. At first I was looked upon as a sort of spy."

"Other producers used to offer me roles in the pictures I was to pass on—and some offered me new cars," he laughed. "Or they'd say, 'Donald, why don't you direct this picture?' But I never took a bribe."

HERE'S HOW...

MAKE A SCREENED OUTDOOR ROOM

Summer outdoors is more enjoyable with a screened enclosure. The enclosure can be used for picnics or a cool place for the youngsters to play or sleep.

The enclosure shown provides a 16 by 10 foot 'floor' space. If the dimensions are varied, span lengths should not exceed 8 feet.

The posts are made of 4 by 4-inch lumber: the front ones 13 feet long; the centers 12½; the rear posts, 12. The footings are of 2 by 4-inch lumber. Use naturally durable or treated wood for the corner posts and footings.

The rafters are made of 2 by 6 and 4 by 6-inch lumber. The roof is of 1 by 6-inch lumber topped with building paper and coated rolled roofing. Assemble the framework and roof.

Make the screens and door. Install the screens with No. 8 flathead wood screws 2½ inches long. Frame the space for the door.

Celler Dampness Easy to Cure; Drain Water Away from Walls

Home owners who want to turn their basements into recreation rooms, but who hesitate because of dampness in the basement, should not let this stand in their way. Dampness is relatively easy to cure, according to the Construction Research Bureau, national clearing house for building information.

One of the principal causes of wet basements is that the yard is not graded so that water drains away from the foundation walls. When this condition prevails, it can be eliminated by banking a few cubic yards of topsoil to a height of four or five inches all around and against the foundation, sloping the new earth away to a distance of five or six feet, and planting it to grass.

Additional protection can be provided by painting the interior surface of the basement's masonry walls with one of the numerous waterproofing compounds now on the market. These come in powder form in many colors. The powder is mixed to a thick consistency in water and scrubbed into the pores of the masonry.

After the walls are thus treated, the masonry can be left exposed if an attractive color is chosen for the waterproofing compound. If finished walls are desired, this can be done with assurance that no moisture damage will result, unless extremely unusual water conditions prevail. For a finished wall of plywood, or plasterboard furring strips are attached to the masonry walls and the finish wall material fastened to these strips.

Although the waterproofing methods described will prevent dampness in the basement from external sources in practically all cases, varying amounts of moisture will appear on humid days. This is caused by moisture in the air condensing on cool surfaces, and the basement is usually quite cool on hot days. However, various chemicals and mechanical devices are available which will absorb excess moisture from the air and prevent condensation. A container of such chemical or a mechanical dehumidifying device placed in an out-of-the-way corner of the basement will prevent condensation troubles.

Basements Can Be Built Everywhere

Basements can be built into homes in more than 90 percent of the sites available for home construction, says the Better Basement Institute.

"Any location where there is proper drainage and no large rock formation is suitable," it says. "In a typical one-story ranch house, the basement will double the amount of floor space available.

But it will usually add only about 10 percent or less to the cost of the house."

Shrub for Screening

The tall flowering shrubs are useful for a shrub border and for screening. Where used for planting near the house, they require incessant pruning to keep them in bounds.

Wooden ships are still the Navy's choice for minesweepers. Contracts were let recently for construction of 16 wooden minesweepers to cost about $28 million.

American Lumberman magazine reports the development of a new trend in wood paneling. Last year, builders and home owners were using wood to panel one or two walls of a room. Now, the vogue is to panel all four walls, according to the trade journal. "New homes with wood paneling have a luxury touch and sell better in today's competitive market," the magazine points out.

Some Rules on How To Keep House Cool

Although mechanical air-cooling has made enormous strides in adding comfort to American homes, millions of families still do not yet enjoy air-conditioning, and again face the annual problem of keeping their homes cool by other means.

Because of this recurring problem, the Construction Research Bureau, national clearing house for building information, has drawn up a list of simple rules which have proved effective in helping keep homes cool in summer. The Bureau also says that several of the recommended procedures will increase the efficiency of air-conditioning equipment.

The secret of maintaining a cool home is to keep hot air outside and to generate as little as possible within the house. Keeping windows closed during the hot part of the day and drawing shades on the sunny sides of the house are particularly effective methods, both to keep heat out and to improve the efficiency of air-conditioning equipment.

Attic space should be cross-ventilated throughout the day and night, either by using an exhaust fan or opening windows in opposite gables. All doors and windows should be opened as soon as the evening air begins to cool. Electric fans placed in windows in different rooms, blowing inward, will draw cool air into the house quickly. Bowls of ice in front of the fans will accelerate the cooling effect. This use of ice also is effective during the hot hours of the day.

Heavy draperies and floor coverings cut down the efficiency of air-conditioners and retain heat in non-air conditioned homes. Replacement of heavy draperies with materials having a large open-mesh weave, and the use of light-colored linen or cretonne slip covers on upholstered furniture are other cooling aids.

Besides keeping heat outside, care should be taken that excessive amounts of heat are not generated within the house. Electric lights should be used sparingly and high wattage bulbs should be replaced with lamps of less intensity. Ironing should be done in the early morning.

As much top-of-stove cooking as possible should be avoided. Today's modern insulated oven is ideal for preparation of hot meals. If there is a door between dining room and kitchen, it should be kept closed during meal preparation. At the same time, if kitchen windows are opened wide and an electric fan placed in one of them so it blows outward, superheated air will be expelled rapidly.

Roof Shingles Have Many Features Today

In choosing the roof shingles for your new home, it will pay you to consider features which will add to your safety and comfort.

For safety and economy, choose a shingle that is fire resistant. Your insurance costs will be lowered if there is no danger that sparks from your chimney may start a blaze.

Make sure that the shingles will withstand heavy winds. Most areas of the country experience occasional winds of up to 75 miles per hour or more, and you can protect yourself against possible roof damage by specifying new "hurricane-resistant" asphalt shingles. In addition to being nailed, the shingles are "welded" to the roof by a special adhesive.

Choose light-colored shingles to make your home more comfortable in summer. Modern shingles come in light blues, greens and other colors. By reflecting the sun's rays, such colors can reduce attic temperatures by as much as 9 degrees.
